| CHARDONNAY Kimmeridgien Domaine Jean-Marc Brocard |  | 49 |
|----------------------------------------------------------|--|----|

This Chardonnay Kimmeridgien from the Maison Brocard expresses the full uniqueness of its terroir. Grown on soils rich in Kimmeridgian limestone marl, blending clay and marine fossils, it draws its mineral character and tension from a geological matrix formed 150 million years ago. The limestone influence brings vibrant freshness, saline notes, and elegant precision, resulting in a wine that is pure, linear, and deeply marked by its origin. It rivals fine Chablis at a more modest price.

|---------------------------------------------------------------------|--|----|

The white Crozes-Hermitage “La Matinière” is rooted in alluvial soils mixed with clay and limestone, nourishing Marsanne and Roussanne grapes with freshness and balance. The limestone influence and altitude of the plots enhance the wine’s mineral character and aromatic purity, offering a luminous profile with floral and fruity notes, supported by a beautiful natural tension..

Grown on calcareous (schist) soils and iron-rich red earth, the estate lies near the Pacific Ocean and is influenced by the Andes. This unique location between two major climatic forces, the cooling Pacific to the west and the Andes to the east, creates a microclimate with sharp contrasts between hot, dry days and cool, humid nights. Daily temperature swings can reach 20°C.

The Andes are depicted on the wine labels, and the red wines feature an orange hue to highlight the volcanic soil.

| A magnificent vineyard classified as Cru “Valpantena”, named after the valley that was formed by a glacier melt millions of years ago. The microclimate, influenced by Lake Garda and the Dolomites, enhances the wine’s unique elegance. Ripasso della Valpolicella is an appellation born of a winemaking technique where Valpolicella wine undergoes a second fermentation in contact the pomace of dried grapes stored in lofts that were used to produce Amarone after vinification. This double fermentation enriches the wine, adding body, colour, aromatic complexity, tannins, and higher alcohol, creating the distinctive Valpolicella “Ripasso”.. |      |     |

| Located at the foot of the Andes, the Domaine Bousquet vineyards range from 1,200 to 1,900 metres above sea level. The thermal variations between day and night, thanks to altitude, benefit each grape variety. The grapes are harvested in the morning to preserve the night’s freshness in the berries. The result is a style marked by elegance, ripeness, and a beautiful natural acidity on the palate. The Andes are also featured on the labels of this family-run estate. |     |    |
